The Truth.

Louis Landrum, editor of the Mount Sterling Record, when he says: "The newspaper men of Kentucky," "were never bound so closely together as now, and when their proposed warfare on cheap politicians begins, you may look for a rattling of dry bones, the like of which has never been witnessed." Instead of serving as the door mat of the community, as in former years, the newspaper men of Kentucky to day are the most independent set of professional men in the state. They think and act for themselves, and are led by the nose of no man or set of men."

PAPER TRUST.

Given to Unconditional Surrender by United States Government.

The United States Government sued the unconditional surrender in the United States Circuit Court before Judge Sanborn of the paper trust, which largely controls the newspaper supply of the United States against which the attorney general began a suit December 27, 1904, to dissolve the combination between the General Paper Company and twenty-three defendants, on the ground that an agreement had been entered into by the defendants in restraint of interstate commerce.

The defendants withdrew their pleas. Mr. Kellogg announced that the government did not care to examine witnesses and move a decree in favor of the government. Judge Sanborn ordered a decree be entered for the government for the relief prayer for which the decree should be set June 10.

It is probable that Caleb Powers, one of these days be legislated decent but according to law and hence he never can be, says a change.

Little life may be sacrificed to an attack of croup, if you have Dr. Thomas' Electric Balm for the emergency.

High Salaried Kentuckians.

A number of Kentucky Congressmen were talking in the lobby of the Riggs House at Washington about high-salaried men from the Bluegrass State.

"I presume," said Representative George Gilmore Gilbert, "that not one person in a hundred could guess who the highest-salaried Kentuckians are. John M. Harlan and Dan McGinn each get $10,000 a year, and I presume they are the Kentuckians who draw the highest salaries paid men from our state. Harlan is the Justice of the Supreme Court and McGinn is the star in the baseball firmament."

Valuable.

An appraiser in the office of Judge W. G. Dearing, Collector of the port of Louisville, was called upon Monday to appraise one of the handsomest articles in the shape of a kimono that probably ever have been received there. The garment was sent from the Japanese of Panama to a woman in Ashland, through the mail, and had to be sent to Louisville for appraisal. The elegant Japanese piece of apparel was valued at $75, the duty on which was 60 per cent of its value. It is plink lined with purple on the garment is wrought a zealous peacock and the sacred mountain of Japan.

THE DAMAGE DONE.

H. F. Hillemeier, of Lexington, who is an authority on such things, says of the damage done by the recent cold snap: "There is not much harm done. The small clover is safe. The corn is not seriously hurt; that not yet up will not rot. The tobacco plants may be a trifle scorched."

"The fruit is uppermost in the minds of the great laboring class, to which a small difference in price means so much. None of the tree fruits are in the least injured, nor the bush berries. The gooseberries, currants, raspberries and blackberries are unscathed. The strawberries are killed right in the middle. The early formed berries are safe. The blossoms got in the bud also."

"The expanded blossoms are partly killed. The crop may be large, it may be immense, but its measure depends on the weather of the next few days. The grapes are all right, just a trifle injured, but the grape is a Trojan, and bears its sufferings like a hero, and always comes to time."

We hardly know what is lost; on its face, not much. If it stay dry, cold and windy, the final loss will be greater. If moist and warm, things now injured will pull through in safety. It is the last frost of the season. In a week we may count in safety the chickens not yet hatched. The bloom of the locust is full, the adage of the value of a 'dry May' is with us. May the heat of June turn on us the big end of the horn of plenty.

Don't Play With the Editor.

As a result of criticism of J. J. Peel by Louis Pilcher in the Kentucky Democrat, the men engaged in a fight at Nicholasville. Pilcher was worsted, and drawing a revolver shot Peel twice. He will probably die.

Many structures of antiquity testify most forcibly to the durability of concrete. That used in the construction of the pyramids of Egypt seems to have so hardened with age as to resist the penetration of stone drills. Natural stone, on the other hand, tends to disintegrate with the passing of the centuries.

Governor Bradley is talked of as a Republican candidate for governor of Kentucky in 1917.

Three Times Three is Thirty.

The largest tomato plants in the world are found in California. One grower has three plants which have reached a length of thirty feet.

In three months from the time the seeds were planted, says "What to eat," they had climbed to the top of a twenty foot trellis. When they reached this remarkable height they grew backward until they attained a length of thirty feet.

They have no special care or cultivation and have had no protection from the weather; yet in spite of every disadvantage they kept on growing and fruiting in the most astonishing fashion.

The trunks are one and a half inches in diameter, the foliage thick and luxuriant. Enormous quantities of tomatoes have been picked from these three plants, and the fruit is of unusual size, possessing fine flavor.

One million of dollars is paid each quarter to 28,000 pensioners in Kentucky, an average of about $5.75 per capita.

For Poisoning Catworms.

Further experiments made at the Oklahoma Experiment station in poisoning cutworms, which have been working on wheat and alfalfa have shown the following mixture to be superior to spraying with paris green, as formerly recommended:

Thoroughly mix while dry one pound of paris green and fifty pounds of wheat bran, make moist but not sloppy, by adding water in which a quart of cheap molasses has been dissolved. Place this mixture in spoonful piles where the worms are working. It attracts the worms from the wheat and oats. It is also good grasshopper poison.

State Commissioner of Agriculture Vreeland has issued his monthly report which shows the condition of the wheat crop is 97 per cent, as compared to last year; corn acreage 99 per cent of crop planted May 1, 44; tobacco, condition of plant beds May 1, 85; yield of barley last year, as compared to 1904, is 104; fruit, peaches 79 per cent; other fruits, 88.

Senator Bailey Atter the President.

In the Senate Senator Bailey charged that the Executive had surrendered his position advocating an "effective measure," and had abandoned his demands for tariff revision. The Texas Senator charged that the President's arraignment of trusts had been made after his election and that before that time he had been as "silent as the grave" on the subject of regulating the railroads.

Will Stay on Duty.

Vice President Fairbanks will not leave Washington until after the Railroad Rate bill is disposed of, although he expected in Birmingham to attend the Methodist Conference. Having presided in the Senate continuously since the debate on the bill began he will continue until it is passed.

VINOL'S RELIABILITY

Countess Physicians Join with Mr. Lloyd in Recommending Vinol.

Countess physicians and druggists are now prescribing and endorsing Vinol as the most valuable cod liver preparation known to medicine and it is fast superseding all other forms of cod liver oil.

A prominent physician writes: "I am satisfied that Vinol derives its wonderful life giving and strength creating power from the medicinal curative elements found in the cod's liver. It is the best strength creating creator and vitalizer for old people, weak women, children, and the convalescent that I ever saw."

Another physician writes: "I could cite many cases where health has been restored in a surprisingly short time by Vinol. I should be very sorry to have to do without Vinol in my practice. It has no equal for hard colds, throat and bronchial troubles." Now, when we tell you that we have never sold in our store a remedy of such remarkable curative and strength creating power as Vinol, that the world's greatest medicine and most powerful tonic, we comprehend what we say. It is true, and will remain true, as long as there is a need for a remedy that will strengthen and invigorate, no other person should hesitate to try Vinol with such an understanding.

In cases where cod liver oil is used, the patient suffers from indigestion and other serious ailments, and all in vain. Will sell for $10,000.00. Write to J. W. Young, Jr., Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Poultry Notes.

The tiny chicken mite or red spider is the pest which does much damage to the poultry industry everywhere. These small tormentors decrease the egg yield, retard growth of little chicks, and the hens while sitting are literally driven from the nest. And sometimes the poor faithful hens die on the nest as a result of mite infestation.

They live and breed about in crevices in the hen house and lay wait for the fowls when they go upon the nest or roosts. I have been told they will die if all fowls are shut out of infested buildings so they have nothing to feed upon. But we believe in killing them by a quicker method than starvation, and the sooner they are destroyed the better if we want thrifty, healthy fowls.

I was surprised to find a few million in one of our poultry houses when the boy and I were cleaning up a few days ago. We had not been troubled with the pests for years was the reason I was surprised to find so many of the moving specks. They are so very small it takes sharp eyes to discover them, but you soon find out they are around when they start to moving around on your hands, arms or neck.

I said to myself "I'll fix them with sulphur" but they seemed so lively and about as numerous as ever after I had burned quite a quantity of sulphur with all doors and windows shut tight and kept closed for half a day. Perhaps the sulphur had lost its strength. I next resorted to fire applied with a torch. I tied rags saturated with coal oil on an old long handled broom and went over the whole interior of the hen house three times. Was careful not to hold torch too long in one place to avoid setting fire to the building. I thought one application of the blaze would be enough, but it only warmed them up. They came swarming out from between the boards, and I gave them a warm reception the second and third round. When I got through there were no mites to be seen and the rag sack and coal oil can were empty. If one is careful there is no danger of setting fire to the building or clothing and this a quick, cheap, handy way of getting rid of these blood-thirsty little animals, the worst enemies of our feathered friends.

We have been laying in a supply of chicken feed, My, it takes some feed for a few hundred chickens. The feed for three weeks old chicks is like the best corn bread made with milk and tested eggs. We mix it so it's sloppy, put in a little salt and red pepper and bake in a big pan. After it is well baked, it is dry and will crumble nicely. The meal is ground coarse and the baking softens the coarse pieces of corn. It is a little trouble to bake this bread for them, but the corn meal goes further in this way, and the eggs and milk help to give them the balanced ration they need.

SPRING CATARRH

W. S. Lloyd Sells Hyomel Under Guarantee of Cure.

The changeable weather of Spring is directly responsible for the prevalence of catarrhal troubles in Mr. Sterling at the present time.

As a result W. S. Lloyd has had a larger sale for Hyomel the past week than ever before in the years that he has handled this reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

If there is a single catarrhal germ in the system, Hyomel will search it out and absolutely destroy it, completely eradicating the trouble. The remedy has made so many cures among Mr. Lloyd's customers that he offers to pay for it himself if it does not benefit even the worst case of catarrh.

The complete outfit costs only $1., consisting of an inhaler, medicine dropper, and bottle of Hyomel while extra bottles of Hyomel can be obtained for 50c. There will not be even this small expense if Hyomel does not cure, as W. S. Lloyd will return your money.

Can Your Boy Swim?

Dr. S. A. Knopp, a member of the New York health department, in an address recently which was given to school teachers, said: "When I saw hundreds of little children drowned in the Sloum disaster who could have been saved if they had known how to swim. I vowed that I would take every opportunity to plead for swimming tanks in every school building."

HEALTH IN ST. STERLING

W. S. Lloyd Says Care of Digestion Solves Problem of Long Life.

W. S. Lloyd believes that the problem of long life is solved by proper care of the digestive organs. Let the stomach get out of condition and soon there will be nervousness, irritation, furred tongue, specks before the eyes, weakness, debility, indigestion, and other physical and mental troubles that directly result from a weakened stomach.

Of all the vital organs, the stomach is the most frequently abused, and hence, the one which most frequently fails, and too with the discovery of a remedy like Mi-na stomach tablets, which is sold on an absolute guarantee to strengthen the digestive system, aid in assimilation of food, and cure all troubles caused by indigestion, and important step has been taken towards solving the question of good health and long life.

W. S. Lloyd sells Mi-na on an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. A large box of the tablets costs but 50 cents, if it helps you; nothing if it fails.

"CABBY'S" HOUSE CLEANING

Proceeding That Is Gone Through With Very Carefully Every Morning.

Nobody who has ever watched a cabby shine up his hansom could have the heart to think two dollars an exorbitant price for a half mile ride.

First, to keep his horse perfectly satisfied and happy, he blankets him well from the chill of the morning and fits his nose snugly into a well-fitted nosebag. Then he takes out the bright yellow rug that goes at your feet and throws it over the dashboard to await shaking. Then he sweeps the hansom thoroughly with a little stiff broom, washes the small round windows, polishes up the window in the back of the cab, rubs down the dashboard with a piece of chamois and polishes the high seat. Then he takes a long, sweeping, lavish feather duster and goes over the entire cab again as if he had never touched it.

When this is over he shakes the bright yellow rug again and puts it back for your feet, dusts himself from head to foot, twists his mustache, takes the blanket off the horse, sweeps off his horse with the same little broom, climbs to his seat, switches his long, lithe whip and is ready for his fare.

It has taken all in all about an hour to accomplish this superb degree of cleanliness.

English Popular in Japan.

A prominent Japanese public man visiting this country recently remarked that English was rapidly becoming the most popular language in Japan. He predicts that it will very soon become the national language of his country and ultimately the language of the whole world. The Japanese is wise in his generation. The marvelous progress made by Japan in the last 60 years has been achieved by the ability of its people to seize and appropriate whatever is most efficient in western civilization. This attitude is now again demonstrated in their shrewdness in moving to appropriate the most efficient language of modern times, and in the foresight of their public men in perceiving that English is likely to become the universal language.

An Isomian's Report.

In her daily altercation with the iceman over the short measure he delivered, Mrs. Jones one morning railed him, in half angry good nature, "I don't see what makes you so stingy with your ice! You know you can't take any of it with you to the next world!"

The man paused with his hand on the door-knob. "Yes, Mrs. Jones," he said, "but you must remember that if you was to see me coming with a block of ice to you in the next world you'd be so glad to get it that you wouldn't have a word to say about short weight."

His Honeymoon Feeling.

"Jedge," said the old colored citizen, "how much for a license ter get married?"

"Want it for yourself?"

"Yes, sah. You see, I gittin' mighty old now."

"That's evident. Then, why do you wish to marry?"

"Well, Jedge, ter tell de truth, somebody gimme a long coat, a linen collar an' a walkin' cane, en I knows a 'oman what says she kin make a livin' for me, en I feels des lak a honeymoon!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Oyster Clock.

One of the most curious clocks in the world is, perhaps, that which tells the time to the inhabitants of a little American backwoods town. The machinery, which is nothing but a face, hands and lever, is connected with a geyser which shoots out an immense column of hot water every 38 seconds. This shooting never varies the tenth of a second. Every time the water spurts out it strikes the lever and moves the hands forward 38 seconds.

More Existence.

"I thought you said you couldn't live without me," sneered the girl. "So I did," answered the man. "So you're living."

"Yes; I'm not. Just boarding; that's all."—Pittsburg Post.

CLEVER BIT OF BUSINESS.

The Story Is a Good One, But Be Sure He Credits the Banker.

There is a good story told of a man who has become a most successful merchant. A few years ago he was employed as an office boy and messenger for a large firm. He was sent to collect an account from a firm which was considered very "shaky," and was told to get the money at all hazards. The debtors gave the lad a check for $250. He went to the bank at once to cash it, and was told by the cashier that there were not enough funds in to meet it.

"How much short?" asked the lad.

"Seven dollars," was the answer.

It took but a minute or two of the time for the bank to close. The boy felt in his pockets, took out seven dollars, and, pushing it through the window, said: "Put that to the credit of Blank & Co."

The cashier did so, whereupon the boy presented the check and got the money. Blank & Co. failed the next day, and their chagrin can be better imagined than described when they found out the trick that had been played upon them.

Origins of "Asphalt."

Of deceitful ancestry is the word "asphalt." Apparently it means "not slippery." The Greeks themselves were tempted to derive "asphaltos" from "a," not, and "aphalio," make to fall or slip. However, the word is really of unknown barbarian origin—Phoenician some say. Asphalt was used very early in history. It is said to have been the ailment with which the infant Moses' ark of bulrushes was daubed, and which the builders of the tower of Babel used instead of mortar.

Living on Cheese.

The new treatment for bringing about people to slim, elegant and comfortable proportions consists in the first place in eating all manner of cheese, to the exclusion of all other foods, save non-fatting biscuits, fruit, and a limited quantity of meat once a day. You may breakfast on cream cheese, lunch on Gorgonzola and Camembert, take Cheddar sandwiches for tea, and a light supper of Milton and Brie; but at dinner you must have only a "soupeçon" of meat and nothing rich.

Raising the Scale.

"I shan't kiss you but the one I marry," said the petulant girl. "Too steep!" ejaculated the young man, drawing back. "Sit!"

"Yes, above the schedule, you know. A Chicago judge fixed the rate at $4,000 the other day. You want board and clothes for life."

Soon a door shut with a clang. The young man was on the outside of it.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Easily Recovered.

A London bus driver had shouted "Jab Oboor!" till the passenger on the seat behind him could no longer resist the temptation to make a joke. "Excuse me," said the passenger, "but haven't you dropped something?"

"I see you're driving it," returned the driver, keenly. "But never mind, I shall pick it up when we get to Hoxford street."

World's Happiest People.

The happiest people in the world, as a class, are the independent agriculturists of the United States, with homes of their own, a competence saved, families growing up in honor, every reasonable comfort present, and every lawful ambition gratified or provided with agencies for gratification.—Louisville Herald.

WHAT TUSKEGEE IS DOING.

Splendid Progress Made in the Educational Institution for Colored People.

Tuskegee institute was opened July 4, 1881, with one teacher and 30 pupils. At that time, writes Booker T. Washington, in World's Work, it had neither land nor buildings, nothing but the $2,000 a year granted by the Alabama legislature. Even the dilapidated shanty and the old church in which its first sessions were conducted were lent by the colored people of the village.

It was not long, however, before the school acquired a small tract of land. The first piece of live stock which it became possessed of was an old blind mule, the gift of a white man in the neighborhood. This represented the capital of the school.

At the close of the school year last May it owned 2,000 acres of land, 83 buildings, large and small, used as dwellings, dormitories, classrooms, shops and barns, which, together with the equipment, live stock, stock in trade and other personal property, were valued at about $31,895.32. This does not include 22,000 acres of public land remaining unsold from the 25,000 granted by congress valued at $135,000, nor the endowment fund, which amounted January 1, 1906, to $1,275,664.

SPRING WINES ARE MADE.

Family Brews That Are Prepared from Various Vegetable Growths.

Homemade wines will be turned out busily as long as the spring lasts. Dandelion wine, birch wine, coltsfoot wine, ginger and clover and poppy, and a dozen other wines will be made this spring by many a housewife, after a recipe handed down in her family for generations.

There is an incredible number of these wholesome and pure homemade wines. Every state, in fact, is renowned for some wine that is never sold on the market, that can only be obtained in the cellars of old-fashioned houses.

Among these famous brews are ginger wine, green ginger wine, sage wine, turnip wine, marigold wine, gooseberry wine, cowslip, blackberry, damson, poppy, halm, parsnip and elder flower wine. All are heavily consumed in the spring. It being thought that they purify the blood.

Largest Loaves in the World.

The largest loaves of bread baked in the world are those of France and Italy. The "pipe" bread of Italy is baked in loaves two feet or three feet long, while in France the loaves are made in the shape of very long rolls four feet in length, and in many cases even six feet. The bread of Paris is distributed almost exclusively by women, who go to the various bakeries at 5:30 a. m. and spend about an hour polishing up the loaves. After the loaves are thoroughly cleaned of dust and grit, the "bread porter" proceeds on the round of her customers. Those who live in apartments or flats find their loaves leaning against the door.

Ireland's New Great Seal.

The new great seal of Ireland is distinguishable from the English emblem in a very small particular only. This is that in the conventional border beneath the table a crowned harp is substituted for a trident. It is also an interesting fact that the new seals are struck in silver in the large metal press at the mint—a method never before attempted—and that the seal and counter seal of Ireland received no fewer than 793 blows before they were perfected.

Insect Postmen.

Bees are capable of being trained as letter carriers. The insect is taken away from home, a letter printed in microphotography is attached to his back, and he is thrown into the air. The advantages he would have over a carrier pigeon in time of war are obvious.

Cheapest in the World.

Postage is cheap in all countries in these days, but in none, perhaps, quite so cheap as in Japan. A letter can be sent from one end to the other of the land of the Rising Sun for the fee of two sen, equal to about the fourth of a farthing.

IMMENSE SALT PONDS.

Water from Great Salt Lake Furnishes Material for a Valuable Industry.

One of the remarkable sights of the Great Salt Lake, of Utah, developed by the progress of scientific industry, is the system of immense salt-making ponds on the shore of the lake. At Saltair the lake water is pumped into a great settling basin, where the impurities fall to the bottom, and containing much iron, form a redish deposit. From this basin the water is drawn off into "harvesting ponds," averaging 90,000 square yards in area, and six inches in depth.

The ponds are kept supplied with water, as the evaporation goes on from May to September, when the salt harvest begins. The water having disappeared, a dazzling layer of salt, two or three inches thick, is found covering the bottom of the ponds, and this is broken up with plows before being conveyed to the mills, where the final crushing and winnowing are done.

From Wheat to Bread.

A record for converting grain into bread has been established by a Canadian farmer. Wheat which was in the sheaf at three o'clock in the afternoon was made into scones before six. When operations began a wagon stood in the barn with about half a load of grain in the sheaf. Beside it was a threshing machine, and the grain was deposited in a bin. The power then was transferred to the cleaner, and the work of changing the newly threshed wheat into flour was quickly carried through. The rest of the task was easy.

Valuable Find of Royal Treasure.

The director of the treasury of Rio de Janeiro, while hunting for some lost papers, has made an astonishing discovery. A box which had not apparently been disturbed for many years was found to contain gold, silver and diamonds to the value of at least $140,000. Among the valuables recovered are the Imperial crown and scepter of Brazil, valued at $21,000, and the Imperial mantle bordered with gold. The box in which the treasure was found is believed to have been deposited in the treasury since 1836.

Horses Checked.

Every horse in the British army is numbered and has a little record kept. The number is branded upon the animal's hind feet—the hoofs and the unit, tens and hundreds on the off hind foot. Thus the horse, whose number is, say, 8354, will have an 8 on his left hind foot and 354 on the other one. On what is called his "Veterinary History Sheet" everything about the horse is entered from time to time.

Bride from the Dock.

The police court at Westmount, Quebec, was the scene of a charming romance. A pretty young Swede, was about to be sentenced to imprisonment for theft, when William Brown, a youthful Canadian, proposed to her in a loud voice, and offered, if her sentence were remitted, to marry her as soon as a license and a minister could be found. The girl left the building a happy bride instead of a convicted felon.

Affected by Altitude.

Generally speaking, races living at high altitudes have weaker and more highly-pitched voices than those living in regions where the supply of oxygen is more plentiful. Thus, in America, among the Indians living on the plateaus at an elevation of from 10,000 to 14,000 feet, the men have voices like women and women like children, and their singing is a shrill monotone.

Immunity from Gout.

Gout is rarely known among the working classes of Ireland. Their immunity from this complaint is thought to be due to the fact that their food consists largely of potatoes.

Dr. Gunn's Blood And Nerve Tonic

There is not a woman in this land but at some time in her life would have been better for the use of this Tonic. For diseases peculiar to women a better remedy is not made. It enters the circulation, building up the tissues that have wasted, making pure, rich blood. For weak, nervous people, plump, pale or fleshless people, it will make strong, steady nerves, clear the complexion and produce good, solid flesh. Druggists sell it for 75 cents per box. To be taken after meals, 42-51.

Like a Lamp.

A certain gentleman was surprised a few evenings ago when his wife named an expensive lamp after him. He was more surprised at her reason for doing so. "Well," you know, dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at; requires considerable attention, it is remarkably brilliant, it is sometimes unsteady; liable to explode when only half full; flares up occasionally; it is always out at bedtime, and is bound to smoke."

Total and Final Banishment of Evil.

There is but one way to deal with an unquestioned evil—its "total and final banishment," as suggested by the clear mind, fearless soul and great heart of Lincoln when he said at Springfield in 1842: "Whether or not the world would be vastly benefited by a TOTAL AND FINAL BANISHMENT from it of all intoxicating drinks seems to me not now an open question. Three-fourths of mankind confess the affirmative with their lips, and all the rest, I believe, acknowledge it in their hearts. Ought any, then, to refuse their aid in doing WHAT THE GOOD OF THE WHOLE DEMANDS?"

These brothers have, by their plain and forceful preaching and sweet singing, persuaded many to turn to God. Remember the date, prepare for the meetings, work for it. We here introduce them to you in picture.

MERE Acrobatic "Stunts" Looked Upon as Inferior by People of Older Time

A passage in Herodotus tells us with what contempt the Greeks treated mere acrobatic dancing, and how inferior it was considered the highest art, says Marcelle Aza Hinks, in the Nineteenth Century. A certain Hippocleides having been disdained by the husband of the daughter of the tyrant of Sicyon, proceeded to display himself in the dance, and having commenced with a stately measure, he then wished to show his wonderful agility, and to excite the admiration of the onlookers, the tyrant, angrily exclaimed: "Son of Tisander, you have danced away your marriage," refusing to have a son-in-law who was so little of an artist that he could make a boast of his mere skill. Sostrates, too, had great dislike to the dance, and he thought that a dance could perform, with their bodies, and thought, then very ugly. What would have been his disgust could he have seen some of our modern contortions—the high-kicking the skirt down the "split." As in all great art, the Greeks in their dancing infused into it a certain nobility, so far as they could assist in carrying out the artist's inspiration. The true artist should not be hampered by any technical difficulties, he should be an absolute master of "technique," but never should he allow that "technique" to be the end and aim of his art; he should be able to do what he wishes of art in the real and higher sense of that much abused word.

Looking, then, at the subject from this point of view, we can see the gulf which separates modern dancing from the Greek dancing. The modern term denotes something entirely mechanical, and the Greek dancing masters contrived to make it by having rhythmical acrobatic feats performed by beautiful exponents. Dancing in the Greek sense must be interpreted quite differently; it is rhythmic movement—and so far it is mechanical—but it is also pantomimic. It is a combination of words by gesture, the bodily expression of a feeling.

How Experiments on Vegetables and Animal Life Have Proved That They May Be "Cooked" Cold.

That meat may be "cooked" by intense cold has been demonstrated by experiments with liquid air, says the Literary Digest. That a less degree of cold may produce the same effect on vegetables and fruit may make them more edible than before is asserted by Dr. Ephraim Cutter in the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette. Dr. Cutter says of a "frost-bitten" potato that he tested:

"It was shrunk—soft, lump and plastic to the feel. It looked dark as if rotten, and yet there was no dead and decaying odor." Under the microscope the starch grains were shrunken, cracked and fissured in the long and short diameters, wrinkled and polarized light beautifully. The form of polarization was not that of normal potato starch, difficult to be told in words. Besides, there were broken shreds of connective fibrous tissue that looked as if rotten. The writer tasted of the so-called "rotten potato" and it was sweet in his mouth. He thinks they might be eaten without harm."

Similar results were obtained with cranberries, onions and squashes. The frozen vegetable reacted with copper sulphate which is one of the tests for cooked food, but the fact that the starch grains polarized the light shows that there was a difference, a cooking by heat destroys the polarization.

WHERE PEASANTS ARE RICH
Despite Reports, Woman Writer Says,
Many Among Lower Russian
Class Are Well Off.

How recent history in Russia appears to a woman of the upper classes is told in a letter written by her from her home in Samara, eastern Russia. "If anyone were to come to this district," she says, "the truth about the Russian peasantry might be learned. Here the peasants are rich, each having a house, more acres, with cattle in abundance. Workmen can not be obtained; not on account of low wages, but because they are now free to drink upon every occasion. In Russia every laborer receives, besides his pay, food, heating, lodging and lighting, also fuel in wood and straw; if he comes with his family to live of the estate extra food is given to him according to the number of family.

"Last autumn, 1905, the doctor ordered us to take my mother to town; on our return we found the peasants had cut down all the best wood and sold it for money with which to buy drink. Admonition, threats, persuasions were in vain. Now, how are we, many of us ladies, to guard our estate from being burned, threatened or pillaged? Only with Cossacks. But you must have means for this: those who have none get ruined. Cossacks only use their whip when all other expedients fail."

FAST TRAVEL IN DREAMLAND
In Three Minutes the Dreamer May Journey Leisurely Around the World.

A flash of light is not sluggish sound travels rapidly, a bullet is no messenger boy, and an automobile which shoots a mile in 28 seconds is moving along certainly.

When it comes to getting over the ground in a real hurry, however, to devouring distance in dead earnest, the dreamer marches proudly at the head of the procession. He makes the latest thing in the line of 150-horse-power racing cars look like hay carts in a mud baulk.

A man sits in his chair after dinner and dozes; he awakes with a start and discovers to his surprise that he lost consciousness for exactly three minutes by the clock.

Yet in those three minutes he journeyed from New York to Port Said, transferred himself to St. Petersburg, loitered in Paris and

What is of greater importance in this connection, he journeyed leisurely, almost idly, and he stopped at various "points of interest" and examined them thoroughly; he met with annoying and amusing experiences on steamships and trains; he talked with acquaintances whom he encountered in foreign lands and he told some of them precisely what he thought of them—there was genuine pleasure in that—Providence Journal.

DEATHS

LONG.—J. W. Long, of Winchester, died at his home in that city on last Sunday of consumption, aged 46 years. He leaves a mother, father, wife and one son to mourn his loss. Mr. Long was a son-in-law of Jas. F. Flynn, of this city. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. and K. P. Lodges and was buried by them.

EVERETT.—Mrs. Elizabeth Everett died at her residence in this city on Monday, May 21, 1906, at 11:30 p. m. On Monday, May 14, she was paralyzed, and with slight signs of recognition of friends remained practically unconscious until she sank peacefully to rest. She was a native of this county, the daughter of Wm. Ragan and wife, and was born August 6, 1836, living in her 70th year. She was married to Marcus (Mack) Everett on January 26, 1860. Her husband died about 14 years ago. They are survived by their children: Sam D. Everett, of Indian Territory, and Mrs. Nettie Wells, of Fort Worth, Texas, both of whom came immediately after notice of the sickness. Of her seven sisters, six are living: Mesdames Louise Patterson, Mary Reid, Frances Lytle and Laura Park, of California; Sarah Bridges and Anna Burchett, of this county. Many years ago she confessed her faith in Jesus as the Christ and was a member of the Christian church. She was a regular attendant in the Woman's Bible Class taught by R. W. Trimble. She had been absent only twice during the year. By her gracious manner, cheerful disposition and kindness she made many friends. She will be greatly missed. On the day preceding her sickness she was at the Church morning and evening, apparently in the best of health, with no intimation that life's work was so soon to close. The funeral service will be conducted this Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at her residence by Rev. H. D. Clark and the burial will be in Macphelah. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.

FARMER AND "PARTY WIRE"
He Likes to Hear Everybody on the Line Talk—Social Hanger His Excuse.
When the independent telephone companies first began to come together in conventions to exchange experiences, one fact was always commented upon with great curiosity by the managers of town or city plants, says Success. This was that they invariably met with failure in their endeavors to induce farmers to put in what are known as "lockout" devices, by means of which every telephone on a party line becomes practically a private wire.

In cities, the party line is considered a great nuisance, because there is no privacy in conversations, and all the bells on the line are rung each time a subscriber calls. Naturally, the managers of plants figured that this objection prevailed in the country also, but, almost without exception, they found that one of the great attractions to the farmer was that his telephone did ring every time the other 16 or 20 people on the line rang up, and that he could hear or be overheard in conversation. It was a practical demonstration of the social hanger the farmer has endured for centuries, and which is now ended, thanks to the arrival of telephone competition.

Japanese Hand-warmer.
An Odd Contrivance Made to Be Carried in the Pocket or Mouth.
The Japanese hand warmer is a thin, slightly curved metallic box about the size of one's hand, and designed to be carried in the pocket or in a mouth. It is made either of tin or of copper, and covered with cloth or embossed velvet. The cover slides in grooves. You pull open the sliding cover and put into the box a cake of prepared charcoal, made for the purpose and fitted in the box—you get ten of these cakes when you buy the warmer—and then you light this fuel cake and close the cover. It doesn't blaze up or smoke, but burns smolderingly and gives out heat for a considerable time.

WHY HAIR TURNS GRAY.
Coloring Material Moved to the Roots in Certain Cases—Depends on Granules.
The color of the hair depends on little granules, which can be seen if the hair be examined under a powerful microscope, says the St. Nicholas. Sometimes the hair may become white in a night. Brown-Sequard tells us that when he was 45 years old, his hair turned white in two days. The root place where he was perfect, and without any special cause. Sometimes, however, sorrow or illness produces the change earlier in life than it would usually take place.
As to the cause, some have said that the hair becomes filled with small air-particles which make it look gray; others have said that the outer part of the hair becomes altered so that it is like ground glass and you cannot see the color. But a man by the name of Metcalf tells us that the real reason is because small movable bodies in the hair devour the grains of coloring matter and move them to the root of the hair. Sometimes poisons in disease, or some result of sorrow, bring about an effect upon these small migrating bodies (cells), causing them to become active in the above fashion. That is said to be the reason why the hair grows gray.

RAISING OF PHEASANTS.
Birds Are Hardy and Need No Artificial Heat in Winter—Clean Yards a Factor.
Pheasants are hardy birds and no artificial heat should be given them in winter. This weakens their constitution so that exposure to cold winds when they go out causes colds and sickness. The house should be tight and as warm as the sun and natural lodges (cells), causing them to become active in the above fashion. That is said to be the reason why the hair grows gray.

Habit-forming Medicines.
Whatever may be the fact as to many of the medicinal properties of the various habit-forming drugs as broadly published in some journals of more or less authority, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. In a considerable measure, resulted in the fact that the habit-forming drugs and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients, have been recognized. Recently, for instance, some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "looked into the future," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. This he has completely furnished all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now of known composition. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the forests of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

SIEGE COST 50,000 LIVES.
Persian City Almost Depopulated by Famine Enforced by Surrounding Arabs.

Leiland Buxton, lately returned to London from a tour of several months in the Persian gulf and in the Yemen, visited Sanaa, which was recently besieged by the rebel Arabs.

He states that he found Sanaa to be practically depopulated, having been reduced from a population of 70,000 to something like 20,000 as a result of the famine during the Arab siege. The Jews suffered terribly during the period, and almost the whole town is deserted.

Sanaa, which, so far as he knows, has only been visited by a few Englishmen, has magnificent and large buildings, covered with decorations, and the town is surrounded by mud walls. On his way to the capital Mr. Buxton found villages had been destroyed by the Turkish artillery, and that a great portion of the route to Sanaa was entirely depopulated. Large numbers of skeletons and skulls marked the route.

The siege of Sanaa was attended by terrible suffering and starvation, and cannibalism occurred both among the Arabs and the Turks.

The dogs, which are a characteristic feature of most eastern towns, had disappeared, both they and the cats having been used as food. The only European in Sanaa is an Italian trader, who was in the place throughout the siege, and who has lived there for 20 years.

Pride of "Die Studester."
"I read in an unreliable American paper about German students earning their way through college by singing in the streets for money," said a subject of Emperor William. "There is nothing prouder in the animal kingdom, exclusive of peacocks and game roosters, than the student of Germany. The American university men of the Fatherland would starve or commit harikari before they would lower themselves to do a stroke of work. To have to work their way through school, as thousands of Americans do, and are proud of doing, would be for them to endure and utter a disgrace to endure. The proud Heidelbergers would not even carry a package in public for any amount of money—that is, the kind of a package that the slang term does not refer to."—Kansas City Star.

Barre Art Find.
While on a continental tour a Liverpool manufacturer purchased a Sevres vase for some hundreds of pounds and brought it home most carefully. Thinking that the foreman of his works might gather a hint from the design, he called that gentleman in and showed him the vase. "How do you like it?" The foreman took the vase in his hand, turned it over, and returned it with the brief reply: "I don't think that I can learn much from it." "Why not?" asked the manufacturer. "I don't like telling you, sir." "Come—out with it." "Well, I designed that vase myself. It is a foreman's imitation of our own work and is worth $25 at the outside."—Liverpool Post.

America's Big Whistle.
One is severely surprised to learn that America sounds the biggest whistle on record. It has been constructed for the East St. Louis electric railroad, and is as tall as a man. It sounds four times a day, and being connected with an electric clock, announces at seven in the morning, at noon, at one o'clock, and at six in the evening the time of day to everybody within ten miles of it.

Cranks.
A group of persons on the borderland of insanity contains collectors, misers, kleptomaniacs—I was going to add philanthropists, but perhaps I had better leave them out, though in some, I might say, many cases the so-called benevolent philanthropist was a fraud. Dr. Savage, in British Medical Journal.

To Subjugate Man.
The way in which a woman can secure the power of the ideal is by being feminine. Her femininity pleases men, and it attracts them, but it attracts them irresistibly; the pique and the irritation lead them straight to subjugation.—Vanity Fair.

Future of the East.
The recent surprising military triumphs of the Japanese have given that people the present hegemony of eastern Asia; but the destiny of that great region may be more bound up in the future transformation of China, with its multitudinous, homogeneous and indestructible race. Coupled with the development of these two great empires, there are other questions more or less intimately related to their future. Most prominent of these is the rivalry of Great Britain and Russia, involving the Afghanistan frontier and the suzerainty of Tibet. Contending questions are the predominating influence in Persia, Germany's recent masterful interests in the helpless but incorrigible Turk, and the control of the Persian gulf.—John W. Foster, in Atlantic.

Motor Chair for Senility.
Anybody who has had a good case of senility must have felt that he would welcome the electric chair as a relief. Now an electric chair for senility has been tested in an English channel steamer and an ocean liner. You sit in a snug armchair. A motor under the seat is connected with the ship's electric current. You sit and take vibratory treatment. Up and down and crosswise you are shaken. Most sitters need but one treatment. Their tendency to senility is vibrated out of them. Some need a second sitting. A few are senile as soon as their treatment ends. It is a preventive, mark you, not a cure. The theory is that senility is essentially a nervous malady, and that vibration reduces the nervousness.—Everybody's Magazine.

Contempt for the Town Kicker.
The kickers on the farm are not so hard to get along with as those in the towns. On the farm there is the kicking cow and our long-cured friend, the mule, while in town there is the old mousback who wants all the privileges of municipal living without paying for them, and block, so far as he can, every municipal improvement. The cow may be sold for beef and the mule traded for a mule, but nothing but a funeral will get rid of the town kicker.—Roxville (Kan.) Reporter.
